DOWN ON THE FARM

(The Hired Man's Lament)
Down on the farm, 'bout half past four,
I slip on my pants and sneak out to the door;
In the yard, I run like the dickens
To milk the cows and haul the chickens.
Clean out the barn; curdy Nancy and Jiggs;
Separate the cream and sold the pigs.
Work two hours; then eat like a Turk,
And, by heck, I am ready.
For a full day's work.
Then I grease the wagon and put on the rack;
Toss in a jug of water and an old grain sack;
Hitch up the horses, hustle down the lane,
Must get the hay in, for it looks like rain.
Look! Over yonder, sure's I'm born
Cows are on the rampage, the whole herd's in the corn
So I start across the meadow, run a mile or two, Heaving like I'm wind broke and Get wet clean through the back of my coat;
I get back to the wagon; then for recompense
Nancy got straddled on the hard wire fence;
Joints are all a-aching and muscles in a jerk;
I'm fit as a fiddle for a full day's work.
Work all summer till winter is nigh
Then figure up the books and have
Have a bit sigh.
Worked all year; didn't make a thing;
Got less cash than I had last spring
Now, some folks say there ain't no hell but
But since they never farmed, they can't tell.
Next spring rolls around,
And I take another chance;
While the freeze grows longer
On my old grey pants.
My suspenders get a hitch,
My belt another jerk;
By heck, I am ready
For a full day's work.

LINKED BY "ISOLATION"

BRITONS AND AMERICANS, like members of a family, sometimes feel their very resemblance push them apart. In the United States today there is more than a little complaint that Great Britain "let the Czechs down."

From a seemingly safe distance some Americans are more vocal about it than the Czechs.

In England there has always been a strong feeling that much of Britain's troubles since the war have come from caring for a founding left on Europe's doorstep by America—the League of Nations in London amid official appreciation of President Roosevelt's messages to Chancellor Hitler there are unofficial remarks about this having been "unnecessary."

Clearly all such recriminations are unprofitable and indeed weakening. There is no danger that each country will use the other's poor behavior to excuse his own. Such backbiting makes for misunderstanding and division at a time when understanding is needed. And it is all very foolish. American who talk loudest about British "responsibility" often are the same ones who want America for "isolationism" wish fervently that the English Channel were as wide as the Atlantic.

Actually both nations are moved by similar motives; both are trying to keep as free from trouble, emotions, interests, ideals, and self-respect will permit. This similarity of purposes and positions ought to help each to "see ourselves" as others see us. A shared desire for "isolationism" when Mr. Chamberlain spoke of the other day as quarrelling "in a distant land" should be not a cause of division, but a bridge to understanding—Christian Science Monitor.

SHOULD REMOVE PREMIER ABERHART FROM OFFICE

IN HIS RADIO address on Sunday, Premier Aberhart said the following, reading from a prepared manuscript:

"The German people are being fired by that particular type of mad patriotism that drives them to fight if any members of their race in any country does not get even more than most ordinary citizens have."

"And the British, French and Russian people are being stirred by that other equally foolish concept of contractual obligation which demands its fulfillment no matter what the conditions are."

"We are not interested in the first part of the premier's remarks that is a matter between him and those who like him are of German blood."

During his three years in office, Aberhart has done everything he could to injure his own Confederation. He has repeatedly shown his contempt for the Dominion government, for our constitution, for the courts of the land, for our religious institution (except his own), and for the civil and political rights of those who dared to disagree with his hopes, his extraction theories and his arbitrary and unjust manner in which he has attempted to carry them out. He has shown himself a man of the typical Hitler bluff and bully type.

And, now to climax all, with the prospect of the British Empire, of which Alberta is a part, being involved in war, he makes a public statement calculated to injure the country of his adoption, and which has provided better for him than for hundreds of thousands of his people who are British extraction and through that.

It is a lucky thing for Aberhart that we are a tolerant and easy-going people. In fact, far too much so with both men and animals that bite the hand that feeds them. If such a thing happened in Germany as that a man of British blood had been entrusted with such a high office as Premier Aberhart holds here, and had been ungrateful and ill advised enough to make derogatory and insulting remarks about the British Empire, which he was a part, what would have happened to him? Would he still be occupying his high office? No, he would be occupying a dungeon and awaiting trial for treasonable and seditious utterances, and to judge by the fate that has met many German traitors, they themselves, would never have heard of more. —Blairmore Enterprise.

CALGARY HERALD ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

IN LAST ISSUE The Calgary Herald commenced an advertising campaign to broaden their field of influence in this community. Whatever your opinion and mine might be, it is a significant fact that the Herald has visualized more truly the trend and result of Alberta's political experiments than most of its opponents. Aberhart's vilification of the newspapers is largely directed against the Herald, yet when the facts are all unrolled the Herald has usually been right. But don't let Aberhart's attacks on the newspapers too seriously, for it was only a few weeks ago that he was selling newspaper stocks over the radio.—Clareholm Local Press.

KING AND THE BRITISH CRISIS

MR. KING usually knows when to speak and when not and knows, too, what to say when he is not saying anything. Influential friends embarrassed him greatly by insisting he declare Canada behind or with Britain in the crisis, but he said nothing. Their insistence was peculiarly embarrassing because Australia and New Zealand had so declared themselves. He is personally against participation and many of his followers in the House are also. Unofficially it was explained that parliament alone would decide the issue, but to call parliament would only be to reveal the division that otherwise could only be suspected. After the Herald had gone on for some time, Mr. King said what he was expected to say, viz: that he was keeping in touch with the situation and would call parliament when the time was ripe for action.—Vulcan Advocate.

DANGEROUS DRIVING DAYS

DANGEROUS DAYS are ahead for the motorist and pedestrian. Snow, ice, rain, fog, long nights and low visibility combine to make fall, winter and spring and to increase the hazards of traffic. From April until May one is safer in the security of his own home.

Timely warning was given by the Motor Association to the operator of the motor vehicle and to the pedestrian as the days become shorter and driving conditions become adverse. The warning will go unheeded by most but it will save some lives and prevent a great deal of anguish.

Those who are resigned to the thought that no amount of education, propaganda, control of regulation can materially reduce the number of traffic accidents will find refutation in the history of the school patrol. Although the number of school children and the number of motor vehicles have both increased tremendously since the school patrols were organized the accident rate among children going to and from school has diminished from year to year. Adequate control is the best accident prevention.

The automobile and motor truck have bested King Winter to become mediums of transportation in all seasons but the drivers overlook the fact that rubber finds its best traction on a clean, dry highway and that the eyes seek through a clean windshield in clear weather is likely to find the next several months dangerous months.—Cardston News.

IS IT ANOTHER RACKET?

IT IS ABOUT TIME that parents of school-children received some explanation from our educational authorities as to why it should be necessary to make drastic changes in the text books required in the various grades each year.

It is evident very little consideration is given to the fact that for many parents the problem of supplying a library of brand new books called for in the curricula is a distressing one. For many families with present means the purchase of new books is a genuine hardship which we believe is quite unnecessary.

It used to be that students passing into higher grades could purchase at moderate price used text books from those advancing a step further. Under the present system of revising the lists every year this saving is denied to parents, who are rapidly coming to believe the scheme has developed into a racket for the benefit of book publishers.

The cost of putting youngsters through high school is a heavy strain on slender purses. This burden should not be increased needlessly at the expense of a few high-salaried authorities to whom the sum of $15 or $20 may appear trifling.

Education is a fine thing and should be available to every child with equal facility. The objectionable system merely serves to throw obstacles in the path of students from less fortunate families.

Why cannot our educational authorities select satisfactory text books for the various grades and stay with them for several years at least?—Cranbrook Courier.

ABERHART BRIEF—CANADA'S YEAR BOOK

WHY PAY $2.25 for Aberhart's silly brief when you can secure Canada's Year Book, concise in every particular, for only one dollar. It will tell you more in 100 words "facts" about Canada than Aberhart's 200,000 word brief will. And it isn't advertised over the air on Sundays at the expense of the poor people.—Blairmore Enterprise.

Edmonton Letter

Lee said 25 was caught attempting to take a night bus from a car in a used auto sales yard, according to police evidence. He opposing the one-charge the accused had been sentenced and sentenced, the magistrate remanded Lee until November 7, and gave him his liberty on a recognizance of $150 supplied by his father, William D. Lee.

His by-election less than a month away, Altabasas constituency holds the spotlight of provincial political interest. Indications are that the fight will be a two-way one between a Liberal candidate pledged to the policies of the party leader, B. L. Gray, and a Social Credit nominee.

Co-operative Commonwealth Federation will not be represented in the by-election, according to official word from the headquarters in Ottawa. In fact, there are no signs of non-partisan activity in either Constituent or U. F. A. circles.

Considerable support is apparent for a candidate supporting the Unity Movement. It is reported from the district, but those favoring Unity in the constituency maintain they would not be justified in placing a candidate in the by-election, the result of which in the final analysis can have no effect on provincial administration. They are loath to establish a precedent and make a bid to the general election.

Liberals are determined to nominate a party candidate and will hold a convention for this purpose October 11. Frank R. Falconer Altabasas constituency, and former member of the provincial house, will establish the choice of the Liberals, who are seeking to align all of the vote opposed to the government behind their candidate. Many of those who have before supported other parties are critical of the Liberal government, and maintain the only real basis for a nomination against the Social Credit is that of an independent candidate.

The Poet's CORNER

REGRET

(To "He who passed" by Y. L. G.)
It there sought in this old world quite no sad
As regret for a thing one might have said
A smile, kind word, or a little thought
To soothe or ease a heart this broken!
Regret for a deed that should not have been done, Regret for words spoken only for "One"
In an anxious endeavour to do the right,
To choose the words to reveal most light!
And in that tense over-anxious strain
Of acting the role never to come again
The wrong is done, the wrong words spoken
Leaving hearts bleeding, torn and broken!
Regret! — Ah yes! 'tis a fatal word,
What are the lines we've often heard!
'Alas! how easily things go amiss
No spoken farewell, no last parting kiss,
And when it's late we wonder and grieve
Where's done wrong as we took our leave
Cause mis-understandings in anxious hearts
Making most of time — over-do the parts!

Was reaction then one of anger or sorrow?
How can we know — when there is no tomorrow?
And then comes mist and a weeping rain,
And life is never the same again!
We cannot forget, nor would we change the past
O' love so deep it needs must last!
We cannot believe that love is gone,
Such love as we knew must ever live on.

It weathers much more than an "Alas" to storm,
Or some sad song which we found all wrong;
Oh! trivial things weighed against
What is left in life with the "One Love" lost!
Oh! the bitter heart-ache! Will Time help us forget?
Dear God! the remorse which comes with Regret,
And then comes mist and weeping rain,
And life is never the same again!

Ducks Unlimited

tax sale process.

With the co-operation of West bourne and Lakeview Municipalities and provincial authorities, Ducks Unlimited (Canada) has undertaken to restore some 25,000 acres of permanent water and marsh at Dis-grosa. This will bring back waterfowl in thousands, and will benefit ranchers, trappers, farmers and the entire community.

The first step in this restoration was the construction of two temporary dams last May. These held water throughout the summer in two lakes, totaling 6,200 acres. Some 25,000 wild ducks were produced there this season.

The construction of the two permanent dams - and additional works calling for investment of some $15,000.00 - is another step toward restoration of permanent enlarged waters; and the development of the entire area to the limit of its natural usefulness in the production of wildlife crops.

Ducks Unlimited (Canada) will assume the responsibility of management, under a 20-year lease. Any revenues which may accrue from development are to be administered by a Joint Commission, including representatives of the province, the two municipalities concerned and Ducks Unlimited (Canada).

Contracts have also been let recently, by Ducks Unlimited (Canada), for construction of water control works at Wauselon Marsh, near Kingston, Saskatchewan, and in the "Islands Lake" near Medicine Hat, Alberta. These areas will also be rehabilitated as part of the program of restoring permanent water areas throughout Western Canada - and developing the utmost production of waterfowl there.

ELECTRICITY

BENEFITS EVERYONE!

WHETHER you live in town or in the country you benefit through today's wide use of electricity.

The new processes and manufacturing methods which electricity has made possible are responsible for most of the articles used in your home, your business, and on your farm.

Your radio, whether battery or batteryless, is of use only because electricity makes broadcasting possible. Your weekly movie is a child of electricity too.

You can phone for a doctor, or a pound of tea, only because of electricity. That same electricity has made it possible for your local merchants to keep their merchandizing methods up to the standard of city stores.

These are only a few of the many ways in which electricity benefits you, whether you live in an ALL-ELECTRIC HOME, or one that is still to be equipped with these time-saving and labor-saving devices.

THE GREATER THE USE OF ELECTRICITY,
THE GREATER THE JOY OF LIVING.

TEACHING THE YOUNG IDEA

Your boy may not have exhibited any particular signs of genius but, if he is a normal youngster, he shows a healthy curiosity about things. He wants to know what is going on around him and what it means.

His teacher will tell you that his craving for knowledge is just as natural and healthy a sign as a good appetite. His brain gets as hungry for information as his body for food, and it is just as important that it should be satisfied.

Nothing you can give him will provide such a fund of interesting and varied information as a newspaper. A good newspaper is a potent stimulus to thought and development.
It is the history of today, covering every field of human endeavor. You will find few teachers who do not read a newspaper. They know its value in keeping a mind alert and in tune with the times.

Give your family this important advantage. It means so much to young and inquiring minds.
